The American Civil Liberties Union last night threatened to sue the City of Mill Valley if girls don't get to play in Little League games this summer in city parks. (Another Mill Valley City Council story, page 9.)

Fred A. Hurvich, Marin ACLU attorney, said he expects to file a suit in Marin Superior Court in about a week on behalf of 11-year-old Jenny Fulle of Tamalpais Valley against the city and local, regional and national Little League officials.

(In a similar case decided in New Jersey last week, a court ruled that the Little League had to admit girls.)

Nevertheless, the council decided to stick with its previous decision to let local Little Leaguers play for one more summer in city parks with all-boy teams. If the teams don't go coed in 1975, however, the league will be banned from city parks.

"It was a good decision, and it should still stand." said councilman Robert E. Capron.

Hurvich pleaded with the city to give the Little League an ultimatum for this summer. If Mill Valley did so, he said, he would go to bat for local Little Leaguers to see to it that they did not lose national or regional recognition.

In the past Mill Valley Little League leaders have argued that regional and national officials would withdrw their sponsorship if teams were sexually integrated. One of the costly effects of this would be loss of insurance coverage.

'We are prepared to be in court on a day's notice if the National Lttle League acts against them," said Hurvich.

He claimed that girls already are playing without fanfare in Little League teams in other Marin County areas. "But I

Chou Hits Detente

HONG KONG (UPI) --Chinese Premier Chou En-lai, in a speech reaffirming his country's support for the antigovernment struggle in Cambodia, criticized both the United States and the Soviet Union yesterday, according to the New China News Agency (NCNA).

Chou made the speech at a dinner honoring a delegation representing exiled Prince Norodom Sihanouk's Royal Government of National Union in Cambodia

"The two superpowers are everywhere propagating the socalled 'detente' in a vain attempt to cover up the truth of their rivalry and lull the fighting spirit of the people," Chou said. "However, innumerable facts have long since exploded their lies.

Missing Troops

SAIGON (UPI) - Approximately 300 Americans have disappeared into Communist-held parts of Laos in the last 10 years of war there. Only one is known to be alive.

Now that Laos is on the verge of forming a coalition government of neutralists and Communists, there are some hopes that the Communists will provide information on some of the approximately 300 Americans still missing in Laos. But U.S. officials believe there is little chance that more than a handful could be alive.

Most of the Americans still listed as missing were airmen who went down over the Ho Chi Minh supply trail in southern Laos or who disappeared over battlefields in the mountains of northern Laos.

Some of the missing are ground troops, many of them U.S. Army Green Berets lost on clandestine forays into the Ho Chi Minh trail area from bases in South Vietnam.

Despite seven hours of often heated debate last night and today, foreign ministers of the nine nations failed to agree on the consultation issue, which the Nixon administration has put at the top of the transatlanponed it until their next meeting April 20.

Belgium proposed that the United States be consulted during Common Market decisionmaking at a fairly early stage.

But the most France would agree to was a noncompulsory system enabling the foreign ministers - not the political directors - to consult Washington "if they wished."

Russian Airline

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Aeroflot, the Soviet-owned and operated airline, may now serve Washington, D.C., in addition to New York on its U.S. flights.

Heretofore, the Russian airline was permitted to land only at John F. Kennedy International Airport.

The Civil Aeronautics Board, announcing President Nixon had signed the board's decision to permit expansion of Aeroflot service, explained that the Soviets would not be permitted to serve New York and Washington with the same flight.

Released From Prison

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (UPI) — Eve Pearson. the college student who was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for stealing a $5 rocking chair, was released yesterday.

Miss Pearson, 20, left the state prison for women with 32 other inmates under a "therapeutic release" order by the Pardons and Paroles Board.

She had served about three months of the one-year sentence and would not have been eligible for normal parole for another month.

Miss Pearson and another West Georgia College student, Cathy Hess, were convicted of burglary for taking the chair from a house near the Carrollton campus. They thought the house was abandoned.

"I'm just glad I'm out," she said. Prison, she said, was "a terrible place."

Eve saidrri her prison experience had made her "smarter . . . and I'm not as self-conscious."

Belfast Search

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) - The British army will extend its intensive security sweeps of Belfast — the most searching in more than two years - to other areas of Northern Ireland in a new attempt to stop bombings and assassinations, an army source said today.

Army troops with explosivessniffing dogs, and helicopters hovering above, swept through central Belfast yesterday in a house-by-house search for terror weapons.

The search turned up an M1 carbine with a telescopic sight, a pistol, two homemade shotguns, hand-fashioned mortar rounds, ammunition, bomb timing devices and a radio transmitter, the army said. They said police took one man for questioning.

Would Like

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Defense Minister Moshe Dayan says he has been reassured U.S. military and technical aid to Israel will continue, but he would like to have more than the administration is willing to Dayan made his statement yesterday afternoon after meeting Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger and spending about 90 minutes with the Senate Armed Services Committee.

"I've been reassured that ongoing military and technical aid will go on," Dayan told reporters on Capitol Hill.

'I am of course never satisfied with the amount, but it is as much as one can expect from a friendly country.

Davan declined to discuss details of his talks at the Pentagon and the Capitol, but told reporters: "I do welcome this opportuni-man Herber C. Leney last night won his battle to assure that a committee formed to investigate the financial impact of the proposed Hahn regional shopping center will represent both sides of the dispute.

Nevertheless, he voted "no" when the council voted 4-1 to set up a 23-member citizens committee to probe how much it will cost the town's taxpayers if the shopping center is built.

Leney said he believed a committee of two councilmen, rather than the citizen panel proposed by citizens Leo and Barbara Becker of 6 Council Crest Drive, should do the prob-

Becker last night gave the council a list of 13 nominees.

Hirt Divorced

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jazz trumpeter Al Hirt has been divorced from his wife of 31 years and agreed to pay more than $94,900 in annual support payments.

Corte Madera Town Council- Leney asked the council for a closed session to discuss some of the nominees. Councilmen Jana Haehl, Larry P. Weingarth and Joel A. Shawn said they'd rather discuss the appointments publicly.

"I thought it might embarrass some people" to argue the appointments in open session, Leney said. He called for "a group of people more representative of the community" than Becker's list, which he said was loaded with center opponents. He added 10 more names to the list, which was accepted by the rest of the council.

Appointed were: Leo and Barbara Becker, Brenda Brown, James and Nancy Crampton, Leon Freeman, Ann Lubamersky, Ian McDougall, Jack Porter, Paul Ryan Sr., Phillip Sasso, Douglas Smith, Brock Thompson, Thomas Thomason, Beverly Still, Omar McNally, Barbara Packard, Shirley Walker, James Wylie, Muriel Beasley, Phillip Seymour, Albert Kogler and Al

The council did hold a closed Council Also: session at midnight with its attorney to discuss litigation over the Corte Madera Redevelopment Agency and the Hahn Center. Hahn's attorneys are scheduled to appear in Marin Superior Court on Friday to argue that Hahn should be allowed to join as a defendant party in two suits against the redevelopment agency, and two others challenging the environmental impact report on the shopping center.

After the closed session, it was announced that the council opposes Hahn's joining in the suits involving the redevelopment agency because it is more than 60 days since the suits were filed.

The council took no action on Hahn's joining in the environmental report challenges, but said Hahn's attorneys will be asked to consent to postponement of their arguments until the citizens financial impact committee meets with Hahn officials.

LEASH LAW - In response to citizen complaints, introduced an amendment to the dog control ordi-nance making it illegal for any dog to be off its owner's property unless securely held on a leash. The pro-posed law, which will be up for adoption April 15, also would allow only three adult dogs in any home but sets up provisions for licensing kennels for the first time in the

FIREWORKS — Approved contributing $1,500 cash and an estimated $3,775 in city employees' labor to the annual Corte Madera-Larkspur Fourth of July celebration. After a blackout the past two years, the celebration again will feature a fireworks display, this time from the Dominic Muzzi property east of

STREET - Referred to the town public works department for recom-mendations, a petition with 32 signa-tures calling for resurfacing and widening the 600 block of Manzanita

MOTEL TAX — In line with the 1 per cent increase in state sales taxes, introduced an amendment to increase the Corte Madera hotel-

motel room tax from 5 per cent to 6

ZONING — Unanimously adopted an ordinance establishing a Planned Development District in the town zoning code, formally adopted the open space and conservation element of the Corte Madera General ment of the Corte Madera General Plan approved after hearings last month, and adopted an ordinance providing for a new zoning, the slope conservation district.

Second Thoughts On Golf Course Repairs

Rohnert Park city councilmen last night had second thoughts about spending $90,000 to correct flood and silt problems on the municipal golf The problem is at holes four and six, which abut Hinebaugh Creek. Winter rains have caused the creek to obliterate both holes. The $90,000 figure was arrived at by city engineers, who reported to the council that considerable drainage work would be necessary to solve the problem immediately

But, according to City Clerk Kathryn P. Logue, the council last night decided the cost would be excessive since it is playing season.

Reluctance In Club Affairs

Cabot Dodge helped organize a club when he was young. The group bought a lodge hall, and later developed recreational properties.

In later years, Cabot became disenchanted with the club and quit. He asked to see the financial records of the club which were given to him. He then asked for his "fair share" of the assets the club owned. He was turned down. By the club's by-laws, the property belonged to the membership. There were the National Little League to no provisions for dissolution or work to get girls onto baseball for distribution of the assets. It could very likely expose this contribution and he felt this would be before the election and he wanted to get this information to the President.

"I said there is no way I can do this. I've never taken anything directly to him (the President). It's been my policy ever since my brother has been in politics never to use that office for any purpose of mine or anyone I work for.

'I made it plain to Cerny I didn't want to get involved in any way with the Vesco case. I said if you want to get information to the President, you (Cerny) must know people, you have an office in Washington. I don't know why he came to me. The witness said former Attorney General John M. Mitchell's name "came up" and he suggested Cerny get in touch with Mitchell since "he's no longer in government and has an office at 20 Broad Street New York)." He said he didn't recall whether Cerny called Mitchell from the hotel even when prosecutor James Rayhill showed him a telephone company record of the call.

Nixon was the 32nd witness in the seven-week-old trial of Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans. They are charged with conspiring to hamper the SEC investigation in return for Vesco's contribution toward the President's re-election campaign delivered in cash

Vesco also was indicted in the case but fled to the Bahamas to avoid prosecution. He currently is living in Costa Rica where he has invested millions of dollars and won asylum through a hasty change in the extradition laws of that country.

Donald Nixon testified his son began working for Vesco in 1971 when the financier took over a business where the younger Nixon was working. He said he did not know whether his son was still working for Vesco or for anyone else. Nixon said Cerny once brought Vesco to his New York hotel suite and he had met the financier three or four other times "at affairs." He said he also had talked by telephone to Vesco on several occasionsonce when Donald Jr. put him on the line My son was working for this

Rayhill questioned him about phoning Vesco from a booth in Newport Beach, Calif., but the witness said he didn't remember the circumstances of the call. He said he told Vesco he had arranged for the manager of the Essex House in New York, a Mariott hotel, to receive a package from Vesco. He said he never asked Vesco about the contents of the package which Rayhill described as 'materials about the SEC

According to previous testi mony at the trial, the package wound up in the hands of Mitch ell who lived at the Essex House. Nixon testified that Mitchell was his contact with the President.

'I never talked to my brother about anything," he said.

Two previous witnesses re turned to the stand today to make slight changes in their testimony.

Vesco's personal secretary. Mrs. Shirley Bailey, said she apparently had not understood a question when she gave an answer quoting Vesco business associate Richardson as saying he thought "Vesco would leave the country and was guilty more or less.

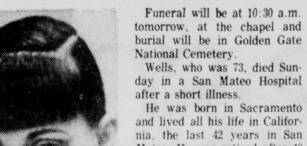

court will not inquire whether She said the correct answer was that Richardson said, "I do not believe Vesco is guilty of the SEC charges.

John W. Dean III, ousted White House counsel, said he should have answered "Yes" to the question, "Did Stans tell you in substance he was working with Cook in trying to delete any specific reference of Vesco's contribution?" instead of Cook was a reference to G. Bradford Cook, a former chairman of the SEC. Cook testified that Stans tried to interfere with the Vesco investigation and was successful in getting the specific figure for Vesco's contribution eliminated from the complaint against Vesco.

Another witness, Robert E. Kushner, assistant general counsel of the SEC, this morning corroborated previous testimony that specific mention of the amount of the contribution was eliminated from the charge

NEW GLAUCOMA TREATMENT

An Ocusert ocular delivery system, used in the treatment of glaucoma, is shown being inserted into the eye of a clinical patient in Los Angeles. The device, manufactured by Alza Corp., utilizes a reservoir of pilocarpine, the drug normally used to control the disease. The drug is encapsulated by a semipermeable membrane through which it permeates at a precisely predetermined rate when the membrane is in intimate contact with a body cavity or body fluids. As opposed to eye drop therapy, it delivers medication at 20 to 40 droplets per hour for an entire week.

Prison Time On Cocaine Charges

Marin County men have been years sent to federal prison in connection with unrelated cocaine distribution cases, according to the clerk of the U.S. District Court.

Yesterday, Rocky Stewart Smith, 28, of Fairfax, was sent to prison for six months by Judge Charles B. Renfrew. The judge also gave him an additional 30month sentence, but suspended

Smith had pleaded guilty earlier this year to a reduced charge of "using communication facilities to commit a drug offense." He originally had been accused of distributing cocaine after an arrest last July in Fairfax. A codefendant, George Prall Schwartz, 28, also of Fairfax, received straight probation when he was sentenced last month

Wage Lid Lifted For More Firms

WASHINGTON (UPI) Wage and price controls on 165 industries that employ almost 6 per cent of the nation's labor force were lifed Monday by the Cost of Living Council.

Council Director John T. Dunlop said the action providing a general exemption from controls was made because the continuation of controls "was no longer appropriate."

Also, it was the latest in a recent round of Phase Four control exemptions give by the Council. Under present law wage and price controls will expire April 30.

Dunlop said at the present stage of the controls program, Hold Auditions with much of the economy already freed from controls, it is appropriate to shift our emphasis to what still remains under price and wage regula-

The action should be considered as a "stock taking" measure designed to inform the public of what sectors of the economy still are under price or wage controls, he said.

Portions of industries exempted under the latest actioon were in agriculture, forestry and fishing; mining and manufacturing; transportation; communications; electric, gas and sanitary services; wholesale and retail trade, and finance, insurance and real estate.

Before the council's action Monday, 32.3 per cent of the nation's labor force was under phase four controls and, with the latest exemptions, the figure fell to 26.8 per cent, Dunlop

The percentage of the consumer price index still under controls fell from 27.4 per cent to 24.2 per cent, he said, and the percentage of the wholesale price index fell from 42.1 per cent to 37.4 per cent.

Special Interests Gave Most Of Mills' Backing

WASHINGTON (UPI) - More the tax group, said that as than half the campaign funds received by Rep. Wilbur D. Mills' 1972 presidential campaign came from milk, oil and any other man in government. financial groups, according to a citizens' tax research group. The Public Citizen's Tax Reform Research Group said yesterday each of these groups "had some special interest in receiving favorable legislative treatment from Mills' tax committee," the House Ways and Means Committee which initiates all tax legislation.

Robert Brandon, director of

Symphony Will

The Marin Symphony Association will hold a one-day audition sign-up April 17 for its 1974-75 season of the Marin Youth

The sign-up will run from 3 to p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. Building at Third and Brooks streets in San Rafael.

Auditions will be held in last May and are open to young instrumentalists through high school age.

In the event a musician is unable to appear on April 17 for the sign-up, he may contact the association and the required music will be mailed to him.

Ways and Means chairman for 17 years, Mills has done more to shape present tax laws than

"You don't have to look very far to see why those tax laws are stacked in favor of corporate interests and wealthy individuals at the expense of middle-income families," he said. "During Mr. Mills' leadership, the tax burden of corporations has dropped from 30 per cent of the country's total tax revenues to 14 per cent, while the Social Security tax burden on all working people has tripled from 10 per cent to 30 per cent of federal revenues. At this rate, average taxpayers can't afford any more of Mr. Mills' brand of tax reform. Mills was unavailable for comment, but he was asked about milk co-op contributions on a television program last night. He said the co-ops gave about $45,000 during "the socalled draft Mills period," but that was long before he became an active candidate. He said he would not have taken the funds had he known about them.

The research group said the Arkansas Democrat spent $274,-836.13 on his abortive presidential bid and that contributions reported totaled $231,027.11. It said milk interests contributed $60,100, or 26 per cent of Mills' campaign funds.

Sex Attacks

A Novato cook was charged yesterday with being the bus stop rapist who twice assaulted women as they got off Golden Gate Transit buses in Tiburon.

Novato Cook

Charged In

Eight felony sex charges were filed against 24-year-old Hansel Elwood Smith Jr., of 17 Villa Maria, a cook at a Tiburon motel. Smith, held in lieu of $50,000 bail, was to plead today in Marin Municipal Court.

He was arrested Sunday in Larkspur after a Kentfield woman identified him as the man who tried to rape her as she walked along a bike path near Doherty Drive.

The woman said he dragged her into some bushes and threatened her with a knife, but her screams attracted a passerby and he fled.

The woman accompanied police back to the area and identified Smith as her assailant, officers said.

Tiburon police then linked Smith to two assaults in their city on Nov. 27 and Jan. 21.

In both cases, women on their way home were grabbed from behind after alighting from bus-

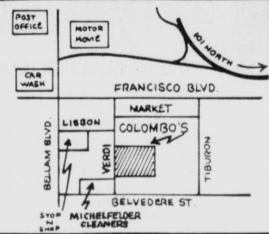

In addition, Smith is being investigated by other Marin police departments in connection with some 20 other rapes in San Rafael and Novato.

How to cut the price of orotein.

Compare that to what you're paying for the same amount of protein in other foods. Say, two hefty slices of pot roast. Or a serving of salmon steak. Or even four frankfurters.

In fact, just about the only protein you can get for less these days comes from certain dried peas, beans and nuts.

Now: does this mean we're saying don't eat meat or fish? No waybecause they belong in any diet. (Except, of course, a vegetarian's!)

But what we are saying is this: if you're concerned about the rising price of protein, now you know a thrifty way to get it.

In fact, you can pour it

California Milk Advisory Board

P.S. The more you know about protein and prices, the better. So:

1) When we say three glasses, we mean eight ounces per...or 24 ounces in all. And that price of 28¢ is based on the average price for one-half gallon of milk in stores throughout California. And you're welcome.

recommended daily allowance of protein is 45 grams. It's endorsed by the Food and Drug Administration, no less. (And three glasses of milk, by the way, contain precisely 25.5 grams of protein: more than half the recommended amount.)

3) All protein measurements from "Nutrition and Physical Fitness," W.B. Saunders Co., 1973. Very meaty book.

Milk has something for every body.

narcotics agents indicted for violating the constitutional rights of 11 persons during a series of six raids in a five-day period last April. Final arguments in the case were expected to go to the jury today.

Salvation Army Cadet Killed; Second Wounded

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) -Two young Salvation Army cadets were gunned down at a city bus stop last night in an apparent unprovoked shooting.

Thomas Rainwater, about 21, was dead at the scene. His companion, Linda Story, 21, was in critical condition at Mission Emergency Hospital with bullet wounds in her back.

The shootings were similar to the unresolved "Zebra" slayings of two months ago in which a black man killed four whites and wounded another, apparently at random, during a onehour shooting spree.

Police said a black man in his early 20s, wearing a green fatigue jacket ad black watch cap, walked up to the couple at the intersection of Geary Boulevard and Webster Street.

There was a brief scuffle, and the man began firing, witnesses told police.

Rainwater was dead at the scene after being shot twice at the base of his spine. The assailant fled on foot. Police declined to speculate on whether there might be some connection with the Jan.

28 shooting spree.

difficult to promote minority members when few are employed, the Tamalpais High School District board promised last night to consider budgeting for an administrator to recruit them and women as well.

The board said it will also consider hiring women and minority member interns for eventual advancement.

'For a long, long time you've had a pool that consisted only of white males," said Lanny Barry, member of the committee which hears charges that women and minority members are not sought for district jobs. He said that of the 526 district employees, only 39 are from minority groups.

The pool for potential applicants is limited further by recent freezes on hiring which require that any openings in district jobs be filled within the district, he said.

She Worries That Her Fiance Might Turn Out A Mama's Boy

My fiance is 25 and still lives with his parents, who do everything for him. I wish he would move to an apartment before our marriage, to see whether he can cut the apron strings. He says there's no problem: his folks won't interfere after we have our own place.

Bo's argument is - why waste six months of rent when we could use the money instead on furniture? (He pays his parents about half what he'd spend away from home.) My worry is - can Mom and Dad really let go, and does he want them to? I've known them almost a year, and they're just too perfect!

Bo is very manly and seems self-sufficient, but

If a guy enjoys living with his folks and doesn't even fight with them, will his wife discover soon after the wedding that she's married a Mama's and Papa's boy? — DOUBTFUL DOUBTFUL:

As Bo says, staying home until the wedding is the best thing he can do economically. If he moved to an apartment, it would prove nothing you couldn't already have discovered in a year of dating. And if you haven't seen any "Mama's and Papa's boy" characteristics, well, maybe you're worrying too much. - SUE

DEAR DOUBTFUL:

My I.G.A.P. (I'm Guessing Again Perception) says you were never very close to your parents. Thus you may confuse family ties with apron strings.

True, a 25-year-old is usually out of the nest but, on the other hand, you say Bo is manly and self-sufficient. . . and his parents' only fault is "they're too perfect.

Could it be you are the one who is overpossessive? -HE-

I haven't had any boyfriends and don't have many friends because I'm so into "old-fashioned" music they all think I'm too far out. You see, I like honky-tonk and I really study it, but most of the kids go for soul or what you hear on FM

My dad said I could have one expensive present for graduation, and I had my heart set on a banjo, but do you think I should ask for a good FM radio and just pretend I think my favorite music is "kid stuff"? - KAREN

DEAR KAREN:

No! Stay with what you like, and just remember, being different isn't that bad: it's the different people who go places. Look at Lynn Anderson: the kids called her "Okie" in high school because she liked country-western music (before it really started climbing the charts). You can't get much higher than Lynn has, with her "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden" and other hits. - SUE

DEAR KAREN:

Your choice in music won't turn kids off unless you're so hyped on it you can't talk of anything else.

. .And a new FM radio won't attract friends to you any more than a banjo will scare them away. Keep on being an individual who likes what she likes whether it's in style or not, but stay open to other people's interests also. That's the real secret of making friends. -

New Fashions Drown Body In Material

By ALINE MOSBY PARIS (UPI) - "The Big Look," a revolution smouldering for a year, finally has overturned Paris fashion.

If there's a world fabric shortage, you'd never know it from the fall-winter ready-towear collections for buyers and fashion editors this week.

in miles of fabric. Skirts billow, coats flap like tents, blouses droop, sleeves balloon.

Hemlines waver from midcalf to ankle, hiding knees.

THE NEW look is not total revolution because the sporty, casual look still reigns as opposed to formal clothes. But gone is the narrow, body-hugging look. Trousers are practically driven underground but still exist, especially for evening in velvets and crepes.

Strictly for thin ladies who eat one lettuce leaf for lunch was the collection unveiled today by Designer Karl Lager field of 'Chloe," one of the most expensive and influential readyto-wear manufacturers of Par-board wall.

How does one cope with these windows? Is there any preordained system for dealing with them? Of course there isn't. Just a kind of commonsense procedure to integrate a particular problem window with the interior plan of the room.

And this does not mean that you must drape the entire wall. I can't tell you how many times people have asked me if they must cover the whole wall to conceal a ranch window, as if someone were standing by with

THE WINDOW is best treated simply and unobtrusively, with a covering that allows light and air to enter but does not call attention to itself.

If you are one of those few who can sleep in a bright room, and if you do not need the light control, the best window treatment is none at all.

But if you're like me, and must have some degree of light control to make Sunday mornings really count, try a window shade or a mini-Venetian blind or shutters or woven wood or matchstick bamboo. But whatever you choose, be sure it fits within the frame of the window neatly and matches the wall around it.

But, you ask, suppose you have another window, of a different size, in the same room? And of course, most of us do have another window in the same room. The best answer in this case, is to try to use the same type of fabric, or shade cloth or window treatment.

For example, in a room with mismatched windows I decided to treat the headboard wall as a color accent in the room and painted it a beautiful rich dark blue - matching the paint to a plain, opaque window shade in this splendid hue.

THE SAME kind of shade cloth, except in white, is used in the big window wall at right angles to the ranch window, in vertical louvered blinds that give light control and privacy where it's needed. The bedspread and pillows act as a bridge between the head-wall color and the white of the adjacent walls. I then chose several fast-growing plants, because they grow toward the light and look like the prettiest draperies you ever did see, softening the crisp lines of the shade and vertical blinds.

I didn't use a headboard at all, making the big color take the palce of a headboard and using thick bolsters and lots of pillows instead. The ranch window just seems to disappear into this big blaze of color.

IF YOU like all your walls white, you can have the same effect by using the same combination of shade and blind, but use a headboard instead of the color; it will become the focal point of the room in this plain white background.

Or you can use white shutters in the ranch window and a wallor white shutters in the ranch window and a white drapery in the larger one; or white woven wood with a vertical bank of color in the high window, repeating this color as a drapery for the large window.

In other words, you are marrying two very different shapes by treating them in a like, or similar way, to bring unity and balance to a room with very definite window pains.

Principal Loses Bid To Keep Job

Mary E. Silveira School principal Earl Thomason lost his fight to keep his principalship last night as the Dixie School District board reaffirmed an earlier decision demoting the administrator.

The 4-to-1 vote followed a three-hour closed session in the district administration building. Trustee Ruth Rosen opposed the move without comment. The board on Feb. 27 decided not to rehire the 11-year veteran as principal next year and. at Thomason's insistence, made public its reasons last March

Reasons included violating confidential relationships, failure to control student behavior, failure to create a cooperative relationship among faculty members and between faculty and the community, and giving information to the faculty in such a way "that your supervisors could only be viewed in a negative way by your faculty."

Thomason, who has already closed sessions of the board, night to give more of his side of the picture.

Thomason described the atmosphere of last night's session as one of "controlled concern" and declined further comment on the matter pending legal counsel.

Campbell said the board adjourned to another closed session at 9 p.m. today in the district administration building reasons for the demotion, as requested by Thomason.

Solution To Overflow Sidewalk Of Sewers Is Pledged

Overflow of sewage into Corte complaints in the past when Madera Creek during rainy heavy rains forced sewage into weather is a problem which will be remedied this summer by replacement of trunk lines in Ross Valley, the Ross Valley Sanitary District manager said

Ned J. Ongaro's statement came in the wake of criticism from San Anselmo Mayor Martin G. Blinder, who called the situation "outrageous."

Blinder said he will consider asking city council colleagues to place a moratorium on new sewer hookups to force the district to correct the problem.

Ongaro explained that sewage is "bypassed" into the creek during heavy rains when water infiltrates into the sewer new this year and has raised and how it will be eliminated.

Bank Accused Of Illegal Loans

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Illegal transactions were cited yesterday by Sen. Richard S. Schweiker, R-Pa., as his reason for urging funds for the Export-Import Bank be cut off.

An amendment to the appropriations bill to cut off the funds until the bank complies with a General Accounting Office ruling on trade procedures with Communist countries was sponsored by Schweiker.

He accused the bank of making loans to iron curtain nations in spite of a ruling from the GAO such loans must be approved by the President to be 'in the national interest.'

"I looked up and couldn't believe it." said a San Quentin guard who witnessed the prison's first streaker.

The San Quentin News reported today that a nude male (what else?) streaked outside the prison furniture factory.

"All at once this guy comes running out and does a short turn around in front of the factory and then flies back through the door again," said the guard.

$4 Million In Escrow For Hearst Kidnapers

The Hearst Corporation today deposited in escrow the $4 million it has promised upon the release of kidnaped Patricia Hearst to continue the food giveaway program demanded by her kidnapers.

In times of crisis and disillusion, true leaders emerge.

Why Houston I. Flournoy is the best qualified man to be Governor.

We Americans have been fortunate.
At critical times in our history, when we most needed good men to lead us, we have found them. This is to tell you about a good man:
Houston I. Flournoy. He is a Republican. If we are fortunate again, he will lead us as Governor of California.

Who is he?

Hugh Flournoy is the State Controller. He is also remarkably unique in contemporary American government.

If we were to have a special academy in this country to train men for high office. Hugh Flournoy would have that kind of training. It's as if his whole life has been preparation to be Governor.

	B.A., Government 1950
Princeton University	M.A., Political Science 1952 Ph.D., Political Science 1956
	Lieutenant 1952-1954
U.S. Senate	Legislative assistant, Sen. H. Alexander Smith RN.J., 1955-57
Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School	Associate Professor of Government 1957-66
California State Assembly	Member 1960-66
CONTROLLER STATE OF CALIFORNIA	1966, Re-elected 1970. Chairman, State Lands Commission Chairman. State Franchise Tax Board Vember, State Board of Equalization Also serves on 20 additional boards and commissions.

Note the short biography, First, his education. All political science and government, leading to the Princeton Ph.D. Then, his teaching career as Associate Professor of Government at prestigious Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School. Next, his practical career in

This is the Flournoy family. Mrs. Flournoy is named Marjorie, but called Midge. The kids are David, 13; Jean, 11; and Ann, 3.

Hugh was elected to the Assembly three times. And in 1966, he ran for Controller. He had virtually no financial backing, and he faced a strong incumbent, Alan Cranston. The pros gave him little chance of winning. But he won. And so he crossed from the Legislative to the Executive branch. He made sweeping reforms in the Controller's Office. And in 1970, he was re-elected by a massive majority, in fact, the largest plurality in the history of California.

It is interesting that Houston Flournoy is the only one of all the prospective candidates for Governor, in both parties, who has broad experience in both the State Legislature and the Executive Branch.

It's doubtful that California has ever had a candidate so thoroughly qualified by education, profession, and experience to be Governor.

Integrity.

Hugh Flournoy has earned the confidence and trust of his colleagues in government. His unblemished reputation is reflected in the remarkable respect he is shown by members of the working press. Hugh Flournoy isn't owned by anybody. Not by giant contributors. Not by special interests. He has a broad base of support which assures independence. He enjoys one of the highest reputations in State Government. And deserves it.

Where does he stand?

Houston Flournoy is not an idealogue. He's not a zealot. He's not absolutely certain that he alone knows The Truth. And he doesn't stumble into problems, he solves problems. Which is something we could use today. Because the problems are here.

His record of 14 years in State Government proves his credentials as a fiscal conservative. He is deeply committed to the concept of a strong and independent State Government to counter a heavily centralized Federal Government. He firmly believes that the State must act when the need for action arises; that the State Government must not sit around helplessly waiting for the Federal Government to do something.

Does he have broad voter appeal?

In 1970, running for re-election for Controller, he was the largest Republican vote-getter in the United States! That year, Lt. Governor Reinecke won by 802,161 votes. Controller Flournoy won by a plurality of 1,435,926 votes. That is almost twice the Reinecke total.

Hugh Flournoy has proven that he can appeal to all voters; Republicans, Democrats, and Independents. In California, with a heavy Democratic registration plurality, and growing numbers of Independents, no Republican can win high state office without attracting great numbers of Independent and Democratic voters. Hugh Flournoy can. It takes a good man to do that. He is a good man.

How you can help.

We need money. Unfortunately, this will be a costly election. And we have no vast campaign chest. We rely upon great numbers of concerned voters who care about our government to make modest contributions. Or more than modest, if it is affordable. There is a coupon here. Please clip it out and send it in. In this year of crisis, we seriously need respected leadership. True leadership. The kind exemplified by Hugh Flournoy.

Thank you.

A moratorium on development in areas recommended for purchase as open space will be considered by Sausalito City councilmen at 8 p.m. today in the Central School auditorium on Caledonia Street.

The council also will consider a rate hike request by Yellow Cab Co., an appeal by Soupcon restaurant for a permit to serve alcoholic beverages and a proposal that would require some businesses to provide traffic controls.

In addition, councilmen are expected to determine the scope of a traffic study planned for waterfront streets.

Five Are Killed At Intersection

WICHITA, Kan. (UPI) - An auto ran through a flashing red light and stop sign and plowed into another vehicle in an intersection last night, killing five Wichita residents.

The intersection, 10 miles west of Wichita, is marked with flashing yellow caution lights on one road and flashing red lights and stop signs on the other.

Sheriff's officers identified the victims as Gayle N. Wright, 25; Arthur L. Crouse, 29; John Q. Ramsey Jr., 21; Beverly Jackson, age unknown, and her son, Eddie Jackson, 3.

A deputy said investigators were not certain which vehicle ran the red light.

Two of the final candidates were from Southern California, one was from the East Bay and one was from Minnesota.

We realized that we had just as much talent right here in Marin County," said board president Jack R. Felson, commenting on Stroeh's appointment, which came during a closed meeting of district directors

Formal announcement of the appointment will be made at a board meeting April 10. Although a salary figure has not yet been agreed on, scale for the job ranges from $28,000 to $32,000. Stroeh currently receives

Describing himself as "rather numb" over his selection. Stroeh said the next two to five years promise to be an exciting period. 'I will do my part toward establishing a good supply of quality water for customers of the Marin Municipal Water District," he said. Stroeh, a resident of Novato for 30 years, first joined the water district as a junior engineer in June 1960. Since then, he has worked as assistant, associate, senior and principal engineer.

School Plan For Summer Session Set

A new summer school plan, with sessions of varying lengths, was tentatively approved last night by the Mill Valley School District board. according to Supt. Peter Palch-

He said summer school will be held over an eight-week period but classes will be two, four or six weeks long, with no children expected to attend the entire period

This plan, Palches said, will allow youngsters to go to one course, take a vacation and then take another course. "We don't want to school children to death." he said

In other action last night, the board discussed a tentative budget for 1974-75 of $4,664,000 which would be $4,000 higher than this year's spending program, Palches said.

The spending program would include a reduction of nine teaching positions because of declining enrollment but does not include cost-of-living raises for employees

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The Moral In Another Proverb From Poor Richard's Almanac

Everybody knows the proverb don't need any help from heav-'Heaven helps those who help themselves," but only a few fortunate souls are familiar trick with the king of diamonds, with the version in Poor Alfred's Almanac: "Heaven and ruff dummy's last diahelps those who force the opponents to help them." The moral, important to bridge players, is illustrated in today's hand.

East dealer Both sides vulnerable

KNOCKS OUT KING West opens the jack of diamonds, and East captures the queen with the ace. A diamond return then knocks out dummy's king

Now how should declarer plan the play? He has already lost a diamond and will eventually lose a club. Game will depend on limiting the heart loss to one trick. South cannot limit the heart loss to one trick if he tackles the suit by himself. Whenever he leads the ten of hearts from dummy, East will cover with the queen. South's jack can never win a trick.

The correct line of play forces the opponent to play the hearts for you, after which you

After winning the second draw three rounds of trumps mond. Then cash the top clubs and give up a club trick.

MUST LEAD HEART You don't care who wins. If East wins, for example, he cannot afford to lead a fourth diamond or a fourth club. (That would allow dummy to ruff while you discard a heart). East must therefore lead a heart.

You play a low heart, and West must play the king to shut out dummy's ten. And then West must lead another heart up to the ace-jack, and you get a free finesse

SOME PRACTICAL TIPS IN BUYING

Your Next Automobile

First, if you live - in Marin - you have an instant advantage. Marin dealers, with much lower overhead than "metropolitan" dealers, pass the savings on to you. And being local, they can service your car with far greater convenience. Saves the rat race, saves on sales tax, too (1/2% lower in Marin) . . . Better deal all around!!!

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Tennis Elbow Is Not Confined To Those Who Swing A Racket

Tennis elbow is poorly named. It becomes golfer's elbow when it develops in a golfer and pitcher's elbow when it occurs in a baseball player. From here we can go down the line and call it anything apropos the cause. Athletes are not the only ones bothered because tennis elbow has been daignosed in laborers, skilled technicians, housewives, secretaries, and other white collar workers. In a few cases, gout, of all things, is responsible.

THE OUTER side is usually involved because the distress often follows grasping an object or twisting the forearm, especially with the elbow extended. A repeated quick snap of the forearm is a common maneuver in tennis and golf. Chronic handshaking and using a screwdriver involve the same anato-

In such instances, there is irritation of the tissues in and about the joints. A bursa in the area may also be involved. Discomfort may be so mild that it is noted only when twisting the forearm. Or, it may be so severe, that the arm must be carried in a sling. In one test for the disorder, the individual is asked to pick up a telephone directory.

If he keeps the palm upward and the fingers below the book, he can lift it without discomfort. But when the palm is downward and the thumb bears the weight, pain is noted in the elbow on the side opposite the crazy bone.

Resting the limb is helpful; so avoid any acitivity that brings on the pain. Heat via diathermy, whirlpool, or chemical or electrical pads also promotes healing. Dramatic results often follow the injection of a corticosteroid hormone into the painful area. Surgery is used as a last resort.

Behr's Stamp Forgery Victory

Legislation that would make it easier to convict food stamp counterfeiters cleared the Assembly Monday and was returned to the Senate for consideration of amendments.

Assemblyman William Bagley of San Rafael said food stamp fraud is now covered by felony laws but they do not apply specifically to food stamps.

As a result it is difficult for prosecutors to obtain convictions of food stamp defrauders, he said

Under the proposed law, a district attorney must seek restitution of first-offense violations if the offense is related to a false declaration of eligibility.

The measure would take effect immediately upon signature by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill (SB1253) by Sen. Peter Behr, R-San Rafael, would make possession of 10 or more bogus food stamp cards punishable by three years in prison or a year in jail or a maximum $1,000 fine, or both.

The same penalty would apply to forged or counterfeited food stamp cards. It would be a misdemeanor to sell goods, services or property not authorized by food stamps if the value was less than $500, and a felony if the value was more than

East, I'll fly you there via Florida. It's my Triangle Fare. You just add $10 to the regular coach fare. ($10 isn't buying very much elsewhere these days.)

You can do it coming or going, no strings attached. You can stop in Miami, of course. But if you prefer, your stopover can be in Fort Lauderdale, Fort Myers, Jacksonville, Sarasota/Bradenton, West Palm Beach, Orlando (home of Walt Disney World), Tampa/St. Pete, Melbourne or Daytona Beach.

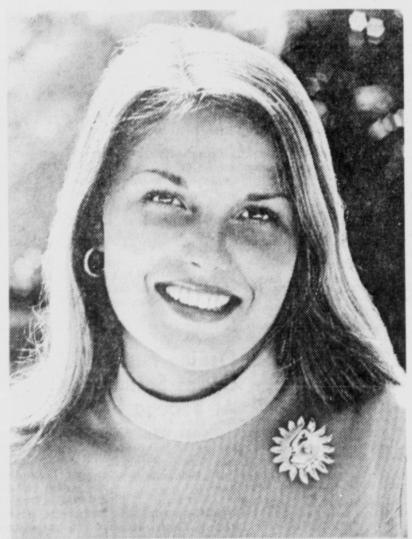

And you can stay in any of these places as long as you like.

I also have Triangle Fares between San Francisco and Boston ($5 more), Philadelphia ($14 more), Washington ($19 more), and Baltimore ($19 more).

Between San Francisco and New York Fly American, TWA or United.

See how easy (and inexpensive) I make it to combine a business trip

In troubled times...and calm ones... savers have discovered there's no place quite like Home. Since 1889, Home Savings has meant perfect safety for hard-earned income-through wars, depressions, recessions, and countless periods of stress and uncertainty.

Today, this kind of safety and assurance is more precious than ever. It's also more rewarding... with higher interest available to savers, starting with 51/4 % Passbook Accounts (more than any bank on similar accounts) and moving on up to 71/2 % term accounts, with interest on all accounts compounded daily for faster growth. Add to this Home's many valuable free services, and Home's great strength of $5 billion in assets—and it's no secret why so many savers have decided that the best place of all to be...is Home.

Reggie was an example of how many of the players feel when it gets this close to the opening of the season. They've got their batting eye, the muscles are ready, and so are the emotions. This last week of spring training to many of the players is a bore. They want to get down to the real thing. They want to start playing for keeps. Miami Mulls Over Effect

Dolphins won't lose Larry Csonka, Jim Kiick and Paul Warfield until the 1975 season, but the effect of their defection to the World Football League could be immediate.

Coach Don Shula's molding of his team into a close, familytype relationship has been credited with helping them win National Football League titles the past two years.

After the signing of Csonka, Kiick and Warfield by Toronto of the WFL, Shula himself admits he doesn't know what attitude will prevail when training camp begins this July.

'I certainly hope not," said Shula when asked yesterday whether animosity might develop between players, coaches and club officials. "Our whole goal is to go back to camp, put the best players together and try to win the Super Bowl Shula said he was misquoted Sunday as saying he might not want to play Csonka, Kiick and Warfield this season.

'I've never been confronted with this situation before," he said. "I heard Csonka said they intended to honor their commitment and it was the responsibility of the club to live up to its give the Miami fans 100 per cent effort this season, so I assume they'll hold no grudges against us.

Shula's problem is if he plays the trio this year in hopes of recapturing the Super Bowl, he'll face a major rebuilding job in 1975. The alternative is to begin rebuilding now with new players.

But that would require major changes in offensive strategy, which has been built around the bull-like rushes of fullback Csonka with Mercury Morris and Warfield keeping defenses honest with outside runs and pass patterns.

Csonka is a 6-2, 237-pound bomb aimed at the line about 16 times a game. He has gained over 1,000 yards the last three seasons, a lot of it strictly on brute strength.

Warfield's experienced successors are Howard Twilley, 29, and Ron Sellers, 27.

Kiick played behind Morris the last two seasons and would be the easiest to keep on the

The Giants will return to California Thursday for a benefit game at the University of Santa Clara. The Dodgers still have a game left in Arizona against the Oakland Athletics tomorrow

Both California clubs have good spring records, with the Dodgers 15-7, best in the National League, and the Giants 11-8, tied with Philadelphia for third best.

In the first spring meeting pounced on left-hander Doug Rau for five runs in the third Ken Rudolph, obtained from the Chicago Cubs last month, hit a two-run homer in the rally and Chris Speier socked a two-run

The Dodgers, who also had 11 hits, closed the gap to 7-6 in the seventh inning when Steve Garvey followed Jim Wynn's infield single with a home run off rookie right-hander Don

But Randy Moffitt put the Dodgers down without a hit in the last two innings, striking out three and running his string of scoreless innings to 101/3 in nine exhibition games.

Left-hander Mike Caldwell, starter and winner, yielded four runs, two unearned through a pair of errors.

The Giants pared their roster to the 25 figure required by between the two, the Giants opening day when they put Ron Bryant, only NL 20-game winner last season, on the disabled inning for a 7-2 lead. Raiders'

NEW YORK (AP) -Quarterback Ken Stabler of the National Football League Oakland Raiders signed a multi-year contract today to play for the Birmingham Americans of the World Football League beginning in Stabler, who led all American Football Conference passers last season, was the fourth big name in two days to jump to the new league. Miami running backs Larry Csonka and Jim Kiick and wide receiver Paul Warfield signed with the Toronto Northmen of the WFL Sunday.

Stabler, who has one year remaining on his present Oakland contract, would play out his option during the 1975 season and join the WFL in 1976.

Stabler, a native of Foley, Ala., starred at the University of Alabama and was the Raiders' No. 2 pick in the 1968 college draft. He was selected by Birmingham in the WFL's pro player draft last month.

Stabler, 6-feet-3 and 215 pounds, became a starting quarterback for the Raiders early in the 1973 season and led Oakland to a division title.

Financial terms were not spelled out but it was believed the three-year contract signed by Stabler calls for nearly $350,000.

Stabler, who starred at quarterback for the University of Alabama before the Raiders made him their second round draft choice in 1968, spent that year on Oakland's taxi squad and then played behind Daryl Lamonica and veteran George Blanda before emerging as the team's No. 1 quarterback this past season

"I'm from there, and my wife also is," said Stabler. "I intend to honor my Oakland contract to the fullest extent though. I've had several wonderful years in Oakland and I hope we can win the world championship this Bill Putnam, board chairman PHOENIX (AP) - The San Rudolph also had two singles of the Americans, said "we Francisco Giants conclude their for three of the Giants' 11 hits, have signed one of football's great quarterbacks. I think he proved last year that he can play with the best.

Stabler, 28, said he had not yet talked with Al Davis, the Raiders' managing general partner, his coach John Madden or any of his teammates, but he did say he had given the Raiders a chance to respond to Birmingham's offer. He explained he didn't give Oakland a great deal of time to counter Birmingham's offer because he felt "nothing could change my mind. Davis "probably will be irritated" by his jump to Birmingham, Stabler said.

"I'd be disappointed if he wasn't," added the quarter-

Stabler, in answer to a question, said he didn't know whether the Raiders would consider posssible court action to enjoin him from leaving, as the Dolphins have indicated they may do in the cases of Csonka, Kiick

FISH AND GAME

Suggestions For Hunting Rules

If you have any recommendations for the 1974-75 game mammal hunting regulations, now is the time to submit them. Write to the California Fish and Game Commission, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento, Calif. 95814 before April 5.

Suggestions for resident game birds should be held and later sent in for the June 28 commission meeting.

The April 5 meeting will be the first of three for new regulations This meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Resources Building Auditorium, 1416 Ninth Street, Sacramento. Final hearings and adoption of the regulations will take place at the Commission's May 31 meeting in Los Angeles. The new rules will go into effect July 1.

The waterfowl regulations will be adopted in late August.

WITH THE opening of salmon season in February you might wonder just what the party boats' fish catches are throughout the rest of the state. By law, they must log all fish catches caught by their sportsmen passengers with a copy going to the Department of Fish and Game.

Salmon landings through February by the party boat logs reads San Francisco Bay Area boats #8.712: Avila-Morro Bay. 67: Santa Cruz. Moss Landing and Monterey 28. Bodega Bay and Princeton. 3 No other party boats showed any salmon landing in any other harbor statewide.

Landings of striped bass totaled 536 and sturgeon landings totalled 54. All of these fish were taken by the Bay Area party boat fleet only.

Only landings by the Bay Area fleet totaled 6,245 rockfish: lingcod, 490: cabezons, 29; and miscellanious flatfishes. 960. In all, 112 party boats carried 11,290 anglers who caught 53.792 species. You might wonder Just what do they catch in other areas? We seem to have a monopoly on salmon, stripers and sturgeon. In southern California 68 boats carrying 20.616 anglers caught 196.423 species Some 183,251 of these were rockfish Santa Barbara and Port Hueneme had 70,471. Malibu and things off.

Santa Monica areas had 54,591 the remaining southern ports each had landings of about 15,-000. Other significant southern port catches were 1,030 lincod, 2,764 sculpin, 1702 sablefish, 1192 pacific mackerel, 948 halfmoon, 763 kelp and sand bass, 634 yellowtail (all from Malibu and Santa Monica) 347 bonito, 18 cabezon, 200 halibut, 171 opaleye, 123 sheephead, 75 yellowfin tuna (all from San Diego and Mission Bay), 60 barracuda, 12 white sea bass and 536 of other varieties.

These figures indicate all of the southern ports do a lot of fishing. Their February landings had our landings beat four to one If you are vacationing in that area, take your rods along. As summer nears, the southern port catches will jump much higher, and new species of game fish such as albacore and black sea bass will enter their catch figures

There has been some confusion in figuring out the fin fish limit when dealing with perch. The fin fish limit is 20, with not more than 20 fish of any one species The perch family is composed of 13 species. therefore a fisherman could legally take 20 perch with not more than 10 of these being the same species. So you could have 10 redtails with 10 yellowtails or 10 others mixed.

TROUT PLANTS are scheduled this month for Rodeo Lagoon. Stafford Lake and Phoenix. Bon Tempe and Lagunitas reservoirs.

Also, the bluegill and black bass fishery in Nicasio Lake is beginning to pick up. A few warmer days, and things should begin to pop here.

THE HEAVY rains, winds and rough seas have put the damper on striped bass. sturgeon and salmon fishing the past few days It will take a few days of calm weather to level

Mutual Funds For Retirement

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. We hold American Mutual, Dreyfus, Investment Co. of America and Washington Mutual. Would you suggest changes to increase income: we retire in June 1975? -

A. Of your four funds, all but Dreyfus have outperformed the average fund in the past five years. Since these four funds are primarily growth oriented. income is a secondary objective and yields are moderate, ranging from 3 per cent to 5 per cent. Thus your $22,800 portfolio s yielding 4 per cent or $916 innually. Dreyfus Fund, which is your smallest holding, should be exchanged for Dreyfus Special Income Fund. This exchange is not tax free but may be transacted for a $5 fee at net asset value. At current net asset values you would acquire 124 shares of the Special Income Fund paying an indicated 48 cents per share from dividend income (7 per cent). In 1973, .038 per share in capital

New Look Should Be Given To Dependency Credit Section

If you are divorced and are contributing to the support of dependent children and were unable to claim the dependency credit in 1970, 1971 or 1972 because the other parent was claiming this credit, you should take a look at Revenue Ruling 73-175, which provides that when one of the divorced parents remarries, he or she can include the child's support furnished by the new spouse in determining which of the divorced parents contributes over half of the child's support. Strange Criticisms Of Juvenile Hall

No doubt some improvements are needed at Marin County Juvenile Hall, but we are puzzled by the thrust of a highly critical report last week by a four-member committee of the county's juvenile justice commission.

The report claimed the hall has "the atmosphere of a jail, in violation of state requirements." It cited a requirement of state law that juvenile detention facilities should be "in all respects as nearly like a home as possible.

WELL, WHAT KIND of home?

In some homes, children are denied privileges for infractions of rules.

In some homes, it is not considered incumbent upon the parents to spend their last cent or go into debt so that the children can wear clothes of the very latest fashion.

And, it might be added, from such homes come well-mannered young people who respect the rights of others and are willing to assume responsibilities — young people who very rarely wind up in Juvenile to be leveled at the administration of an institution that has punishment as part of its reason for being.

It may be true, as committee member Edward J. Neumeier alleged without citing proof, that a majority of those in Juvenile Hall are runaways. But it is true, as can easily be verified by checking with the probation department, that a majority of the runaways are guilty of other infractions besides just going AWOL from home. And it is also true that among the inmates of Juvenile Hall are many who are guilty of crimes which would mean jail sentences if they were

IT APPEARS that the committee members are "out to get" Erick F. Yarchin, the juvenile hall superintendent.

We are sure the other nine members of the Marin County Juvenile Justice Commission or a majority of them, anyhow — need no reminder that Juvenile Hall was plagued with a great many troubles before Yarchin took over as superintendent. It still has its troubles. No doubt it always will have. But they are fewer and less serious now than under previous administration.

Taxes Can Take All

In a recent article you argued very cogently against an income tax cut. But consider the following: In a year of 6 per cent inflation a corporation in the 48 per cent tax bracket (the tax rate for most corporations), and which has a book profit of 12 per cent, will pay its entire real net income to the federal and state governments in income taxes. Inflation will take one-half of the book profit and income taxes will take the other half. If the corporation pays a dividend it will disburse these funds out of capital, and the stockholders will pay a tax on what is really a return of their capital. A significant number of our corporations and their stockholders are in this situation

A similar case can be made for proprietorships. I have used the corporate example because it is easier to demon-

This year we are in double digit inflation. This means that profits must be in the range of 20 per cent just to pay income taxes. If income tax policy does not recognize the effect of inflation on profits soon only the most profitable businesses will survive.

'Ghetto' Application To Rafael Village Irksome

In the Feb. 20 issue, an article, "Novato Rejects Base House Use," was printed. Some of the remarks reportedly made at that meeting stunned me

I am a resident of Rafael Village and I don't see how this housing area, in the words of Mr. Patterson, "will create a ghetto-like impact." These houses are not substandard, as are the ones on Hamilton, and for the most part are kept up very well. I realize of course that they are not as lovely and impressive as the Country Club Estate homes, but then we can't all be rich.

I also take issue with a particular remark made by Mr. Marsh, president of the Marin Country Club Estates Homeowners Association. In saying that the use of the Hamilton surplus housing for low and moderate income families would create a ghetto, he used the phrase "a dumping ground for poor people." That gives me the chills. How could anyone come up with such a sick, degrading remark about those who are not as fortunate as most of us? I don't know how he did it, but I doubt that an intelligent, sensitive man could have.

MARTHA PAULSEN

Many State Workers Far From Overpaid

Rus Walton's column, this paper March 27, comparing State of California salaries with that of other governmental agencies and outside industries is so one-sided it's biased. Walton mentioned mostly office workers and those comparisons listed were poorly chosen.

The federal government is far more generous with salaries than is the state and so are most other county and city agencies, and no mention was made of any salaries other than the city of San Francisco, outside industry and the state. Nor does Walton mention gross inequities existing in state salaries for decades, only top step pay for some state clerical jobs and poorly paying averages for those in industry. Large urban areas in northern and southern California are so short of stenos and secretaries that companies are pirating them from each other and the salaries paid are far higher than those paid by the state -a state sten $8,028 annually and a company in Los Angeles is offering $9,075.

The real gaps are with construction workers and other trades areas. The state pays carpenters, painters, plumbers and electricians $6.08 an hour. Union scale for a carpenter here is $9.50; for a plumber, $10.17; for an electrician, $10.75. All these plus fringe benefits. The inequities are great enough so that "cut squeeze and trim" Governor Reagan actually approved a minimum "catch up" raise for construction workers which would have left them only 25 per cent behind industry. This raise was vetoed by the Nixon Cost of Living Council and was never paid; the litigation to restore that raise is still in progress.

State workers are just as apt as any to be transferred or laid off and they lose large sums of money in forced sale of homes because of this (we did), so the socalled security factor quoted by any individual as a reason to deny "public service" workers arbitration rights are hogwash. State workers pay taxes, as do any other workers, and it can in no way be considered a real privilege to work for an organization that underpays and overworks its employees. State workers are not second-class citizens and have every right to expect to be paid for the work they do.

Trans-Atlantic Community Still Exists — And Still Works

In view of all the gloomy talk in recent weeks about the decline of the trans-Atlantic community, it should be noted that during this last week a $2.5 billion loan was raised in the western world, using "free-world" mechanisms to help tide the British through their present (and considerable) economic difficulties.

The $2.5 billion may not be enough to carry them to the time when North Sea oil should vastly improve their balance of payments position. Some estimates put the expectable deficit from now to then at around $15 billion. But it was more than enough to boost the pound sterling on the exchange markets even when the London stock exchange was registering some Underlining the fact that the Atlantic community still exists and is operating the way it should, is the increasing of the 'swap" fund available to the Bank of England from the Federal Reserve in Washington by $1 billion. This was announced the same day as the loan - the day that Britain's new chancellor of the exchequer was presenting his belt-tightening budget to parliament.

WHEN ONE MEMBER is in financial difficulties, the others are supposed to rally around and help out. This is the way it has worked ever since the beginning of the partnership in World War II. This is the way it continues to work to this day. The ties that bind the community together may be frayed from too long neglect. Yet the essential fact remains that the community does exist and does function. The British pound, the most threatened of western currencies, was supported by the dollar, once again one of the stronger of western currencies.

This is only one example of a condition in the world which has existed for so long that people tend to forget that it is a remarkable and important achievement. There is a great deal of stability. Not only does Washington support the British pound in its moment of trouble, there is still a NATO alliance. There is still a special American relationship with Japan. There is still all the machinery in operation which stabilized the world after World War II, and continues to be the foundation of its stability

One way to get this fact into perspective is to remember that its existence is proof that peoples and powers can and do learn from experience. democracies are in fact, for all of their shortcomings, doing the things they ought to have done after World War I and did

IN MANY WAYS the world is in a condition reminiscent of the early '30s That was a time when just about everything that could be done wrong, was done wrong. The first symptom of what became the great depression was the bankruptcy of the Credit Anstalt, a main bank in the Austrian empire. It seems never to have occurred to any other country at that time to do anything to help the

One collapse followed another. Bankruptcies were rampant. Economies began to falter. There were a few feeble and inadequate efforts to organize a cooperative approach to the problems, but they received a fatal blow when the United States Congress voted the highest tariffs in American history. The modern world was fragmented. Tariff walls went up. Trade stagnated. And Adolf Hitler was brought to power in Germany. The industrial powers were then on the downhill slope to World War II.

Historians usually blame the Versailles Treaty for World War II, but it was depression, inflation and frustration in Germany which destroyed the Weimar Republic and paved the way for Hitler. Had there existed in 1930 the kind of cooperative machinery which binds the modern democracies together today would there have been a World War II? Almost certainly not.

THOSE DREADFUL LESSONS learned from the '30s were not in vain. The statesmen of the '50s and '60s remembered, and did better. And today we are all the beneficiaries.

Today's economic problems are just as grave as were those of the '30s. But they are being handled cooperatively, at least so far. True, there are isolationist and nationalist inclinations in most of the countries concerned. There are dangers of forgetting the lessons and slipping back into a fragmented world. But it is not fragmented yet. That loan to the British last week is a reminder that much of lasting value was achieved in our times, and still operates to sustain all members of the community

Senator Baker Changes Role From Hero To Mystery Man

WASHINGTON — Of all the characters in the Watergate drama, none rose higher and fell faster than Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee. What Baker is up to now as his graph drops lower is a mystification as dense as anything that has happened in the great Watergate scandal. He seems to be trying to put blame on the Central Intelligence Agency for the coverup. He does this by running his own hearings and by bringing Richard Helms back from his ambassadorial post in Iran for a third going-over. That ended, incidentally, with Chairman Sam Ervin, who exercised his right to sit in on Baker's private show, giving Helms a clean bill of In the course of his mystification.

Baker waves top secret memoranda which he alone has been allowed to see. But leaks and counter-leaks give clues that serve Baker's purpose if that purpose is indeed to draw in the CIA.

WHY? A widely held belief is that Baker is being nudged by the White House. The nudging agent is Charles W. Colson, one of the seven Watergate figures indicted on March 1, who still keeps a close connection with the White House. Baker denied he is "cooperating" with Colson.

Colson brought in as a White House consultant that compulsive spy, E. How ard Hunt Jr. Hunt's past with the CIA, his work with the White House "plumbers," his intervention in the ITT case, his part in the break-in of the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist — that is the Byzantine maze Baker professes to be following. One of those convicted for the Watergate break-in, Hunt is free on bond pending an appeal.

Author of the declaration that he would trample on his grandmother if need be to insure Richard Nixon's re-election. Col son in the first flush of the Nixon landslide was a happy man. He would leave the White House to become counsel for the Teamsters Union at a retainer reported to be $100,000 a year.

firm, although he continues out of his law office to do business for the teamsters.

A RECENT LAWSUIT filed by James Hoffa, former Teamsters president released from prison on parole by Nixon, charges Nixon and Att. Gen. William Saxbe with a deal engineered by Colson to deny Hoffa union office until 1980 with a reward for Colson as union counsel. A party to this arrangement, so the suit charged, was Frank E. Fitzsimmons. who became union president after Hoffa went to prison. As for Colson's motives, that is speculation. If the CIA can be shown to have been a principal partner, that will give a certain institutional authority - with in the background the warning that national security must not be infringed - helping those caught in the net. And this will be so not only for Colson but for his friend and collegemate at Brown University Howard Hunt.

The staff of the Ervin committee is now beginning to put together a draft report of the hearings. The final report is not due until May 28, but committee sources say that in light of the thousands of pages of testimony to be combed over this is a short time.

Each senator on the committee will feel obligated to reach his own conclusions and then presumably they will be fused into a common finding.

BAKER'S EXPEDITION in tortuous reaches of the CIA jungle does not, according to committee sources, come under the terms of the resolution authorizing the Watergate investigation.

The committee was charged with investigating criminal activity in connection with the 1972 elections. Whether the CIA, in furnishing Hunt a red wig and a voice transformer when he started sleuthing the ITT case, comes under this definition is doubtful.

As the ranking Republican on the committee, Baker can submit a minority report. But if he should devote this to his private safari into CIA land, the full committee might challenge its relevance.

It is hard to realize that when the sensational hearings were at the top of their television ratings, Baker was seriously talked about as a possible Republican presidential candidate. When he appeared on "Face the Nation" he was not asked a single question about presidential ambitions. But perhaps his reward comes from serving his beleaguered president.

REGARDLESS OF the surface explanation that the Meade-Papan mis-match was occasioned by a squabble over chairing a committee meeting, the underlying cause was the bad blood over the speakership fight. Papan, you see, is a McCarthy lieutenant, while Meade takes his orders from Moretti, who seeks to install Brown as his replacement. This is bound to be confusing to those who know that Moretti is engaged in mortal battle with Brown for the Democratic nomination for governor. But that is another Brown, Edmund G. Jr., while the one Moretti is boosting is Willie.

Another funny thing is that neither Brown needs Moretti's help in his ambi-

Had Moretti handed over the speaker's gavel when he declared himself for governor, the issue would have been settled and the legislators could be going about their work peacefully.

SO, EVEN WHILE he is spending thousands on TV spots telling the public about his "great" record as speaker, Moretti must shoulder the responsibility for the Papan-Meade battle.

That performance, which may seem somewhat humorous, can only be viewed on serious reflection as making the "professional lawmakers" seem most unprofessional.

And Moretti's adamant refusal to step down can only lead to more misconduct, reflecting not only on Moretti as a leader but on the entire house membership.

Bay Area Machinists Sign Pact

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -The Machinists Union and major machine shops and manufacturing plants in four San Francisco Bay Area counties have agreed to a new contract providing workers with a 24 per cent boost in wages over the next three years.

The contract provides for an immediate 10 per cent raise, and subsequent raises of 7 per cent on April 1 in each of the next two years, a union spokesman said yesterday. The immediate increase raised the pay for skilled maintenance machinists to $7.46 an hour; $6.95 for journeymen machinists, and $5.16 for production workers.

The pact, which includes a cost-of-living clause and improved health and dental coverage, was approved by union members by a 4-to-1 margin, the spokesman said.

The contract covers about 4,-000 employees at 108 major shops in San Francisco, Contra Costa, Marin and San Mateo

The proposal, sometimes referred to as "Collier Towers," has drawn fire from a variety of interests.
